Weekend Server Maintenance

This weekend (May 29-31) we will be doing server maintenance. While we cannot provide an exact time when your site will be affected, the work won't take long and the odds are low that you will visit the site at the time it is affected. However, if you do visit your site and see the 'Site in Maintenance Mode' message, rest assured that if you come back in 15 minutes that the site will again be active. We regret any inconvenience but hope that you support our commitment to keeping SMMware running on the latest underlying technologies.

New Feature: Credit Cards for Associates

Historically, SMMware assumed that all expenses that were paid for using a company credit card used the same credit card. SMMware now allows for each Associate to potentially have their own company credit card. A default company card is still selected in the QuickBooks Settings page (in the Admin menu).

However, you can now set a credit card in an Associate's profile to override the default company credit card when uploading the expense to QuickBooks.

Spring Sweepstakes Winners

The results of our 2021 Spring Sweepstakes (Join the SMMware Discussion Group at Facebook) were posted to the Discussion Group and are reprinted here.

Congratulations to the 2 winners of our Spring Sweepstakes:

Sharon Cofar, of A Move Made Easy
and
John McCarty, of Cardinal Transition Services

Each winner has received 3 free months of SMMware. Although our contest has concluded, you are still welcome to join our Facebook group if you have not done so already. Whenever you have a question that you want to ask of other SMMware subscribers, we hope that you will post it to the SMMware Facebook Discussion Group. Our thanks again to everyone who participated.

Next New Feature

We are currently working on a revision for Expense Entries, to allow you to upload a scan of a receipt (PDF or image) as part of the expense. We anticipate launching it June 4th.

Thanks, and stay safe.
